Correspondence regarding the conditions on which a "compensation pension" is admissible.

EXTRACT I.—The Governor-General in Council desires that the attention of the several Departments of the Government of India and of Local Governments be drawn to the conditions prescribed in the (Civil Service Regulations) for the admission of claims to Compensation pension Such pension is only granted to an

Secretary of State for special consideration.

3 It is not desirable that frequent relaxations of the rules should be permitted. At the same time, it involves serious hardship if officers are thrown out of employment when they have not failed in the discharge of their public duties, and are refused all compensation therefor.

4 The Governor-General in Council therefore deems it necessary to remind all Departments, Local Governments, and officers concerned that, in any scheme for re-organising an establishment, the claims to pension that may arise in consequence of the re-o[illegible] change is made, and, except in cas[illegible] blishment should be carried out whi[illegible] to compensation pension, the cost o[illegible] the revision. As stated in .... [illegible] cost of the pension, "it may be [illegible] it or abolition of appointment."—(Circular of the Government of India, Finance Department, No. 1690, dated 22nd July 1878.)

EXTRACT II.—5. It is doubtless the duty of all public officers to take every suitable opportunity to introduce improvements in the Administration, and as the rules now stand, personal claims such as those of A B often impede administrative reforms otherwise desirable But it is easy to see that, if the Government were [illegible]

6. Local improvements must, therefore, be carried out with a due regard to these considerations, and it should be clearly understood that, if a public servant is discharged, as, in the present instance, A B has been discharged, a remedy at the charge of the public revenues for the loss he sustains is not to be expected.—(Government of India, Finance Department, to Bombay, No 2653, dated 6th September 1878)

APPENDIX No. 9—Referred to in Article 470 (a) and 923 (a), Note.

Orders of the Secretary of State deprecating recommendations for "special pensions."

EXTRACT I.—8. I take this opportunity of calling your attention to the practice [illegible] for special pensions. The Code of rules, 1831, prescribed that "the rates of pen- [illegible] within the prescribed limitations, with [illegible] approved service. It appears, however, [illegible] in India to recommend, in nearly every c[illegible] rules permit, and whenever the service rendered has been at all above the average character, a special pension is recommended in excess of that which the rules authorise.

9. It cannot be too strongly insisted upon, and made known to the whole body of Uncovenanted Officers, that the full pension authorised under the rules is not to be given as a matter of course, but only when the service performed has been [illegible] the case may be.

4. The Pension Code published by you merely embodies existing rules as to the grant of pensions [illegible] ided for the guidance and information of [illegible] to absolutely preclude your Government [illegible] to the Secretary of State you may see [illegible]

5. The inconvenience, however, of recommending Uncovenanted servants for special pens[illegible]ted out in paragraphs 8 and 9 of [illegible], No 174, and I see no reason to [illegible] of State, No. 401, dated 24th [illegible]

EXTRACT III.—I desire to express my general disinclination to increase the non-effective charges by the grant of any pensions in excess of what the Regulations of the Service provide, save in cases of very exceptional and distinguished service. Mere length of service, however, faithfully performed, is not, I consider, in itself a sufficient ground for exceptional rewards —(Secretary of State, No 92, dated 8th March 1877.)

EXTRACT IV.—2. I understand Your Excellency to recognise the objections which exist to the grant of a pension in excess of that laid down by the rules, and permitted when the servic may be expected from an his Department.

3. The grant of a bonus has been allowed in certain cases, when paid in India as a mode of reducing the sterling payments If issued in England, it loses that character, and ceases to be of any advantage to the Government as an alternative mode of rewarding an officer on retirement

4. I request that, in future, the ord[illegible] additional pension of Rs. 1,000 in such paragraph of Sir Henry Fowler's Despatc to be the highest amounts to be awarded, —(Secretary of State, No. 121-Financial,

EXTRACT V —2. As Your Excellency is aware, the grant of pensions in excess of Rs 5,000 a year to officers other than those eligible for special pensions in virtue of or that his services in it were of so distinguished and exceptional a character, as to justify his admission to a special pension I am unable, therefore, to comply with your recommendation in his favour —(Secretary of State, No 224-Financial, dated 25th December 1903)

tions Nevertheless you consider that * * service has been so exceptionally distinguished and meritorious as to justify you in making your present recommendation in his favour

3 I agree in the views expressed by Lord George Hamilton, and others of my predecessors, as to the necessity for restricting the grant of special pensions of this kind to cases of the most exceptional merit, in which the service has been of a nature not ordinarily falling within the duty that may be expected from an officer who has been [illegible] Department With much reluctance, but [illegible] the principle, I find myself unable to acc[illegible] State, No 127-Financial, dated 18th Se[illegible]

EXTRACT VII —The expression " service of a nature not ordinarily falling within the duty " of an officer is capable of being understood as including service appertaining to another branch of the administration than that in which the officer is employed An example of this would arise if an officer in one Department did, in his spare time, something that was helpful in the working of another Department
